Saddleland Voucher

48-50 McIvor Road

Bendigo Vic 3550

03 54445555

This Month's Saddleland Voucher for the member of the month goes to Ben Weir. Ben decided out of the blue that he would like to join pony club and ride a horse, which was quite a shock to everyone. He was very fortunate to be able to borrow Toni's wonderful pony Nippa, to give him a safe & reliable mount. Ben took to Show-jumping, showing good balance & position, he was a good student willing to give anything a go. I have watched Ben improve over the months and am impressed by his wonderful attitude. He is so laid back that sometimes I even forget that he is in the group. He is happy in any group & happy to share Nippa with Toni and step onto Buster so that she can ride him for the games. Ben we need more boys in Pony Club and I could certainly handle more like you. Well done for a great effort over the past 10 months.

Faye Barnett

District Commissioner

Thank You Saddleland & congratulations Ben

Can you afford to Not Vaccinate your Best Friend???

Tetanus occurs when a wound becomes infected with bacterial spores of Clostridium tetani. These spores germinate, multiply and produce a very powerful poison which affects the muscles. Some cases of tetanus occur from wounds that are so small they are not noticed.

An affected horse at the start, moves with a stiff-legged gait, often with the tail held out stiffly and the ears pricked. As the disease progresses the muscles become so rigid, stiff and extremely painful, that the horse may fall and not be able to get up again. Convulsions may occur and death is caused by paralysis of the breathing muscles.

Persistent spores can be found in the soil (it is more prevalent in cultivated than uncultivated soils) and organisms are routinely isolated from the faeces of many domestic animals, including the dog and cat, and also from humans. Animals that have recovered from natural infection are not immune and still require vaccination for protection. Treatment is difficult, time consuming, very expensive and often unsuccessful. It involves the use of tetanus anti-toxin (Equivac TAT) to neutralise unbound circulating toxin, penicillin to prevent further growth of C. tetani, muscle relaxants to relax the rigid muscles, and supportive therapy until the toxin is eliminated or destroyed.

Vaccination is the only way to provide safe, effective long-term protection against tetanus. If an unvaccinated horse is injured, tetanus antitoxin should be administered to provide immediate but short-term (3 weeks) protection. At the same time a vaccination program should be commenced to develop long-lasting immunity. The tetanus vaccine (Equivac-T) may be administered intramuscularly on one side of the neck, while the tetanus antitoxin is injected subcutaneously on the other side of the neck. A separate syringe and needle should be used for each product. This will result in both immediate and long lasting protection.

Tetanus vaccine alone provides long-lasting protection but immunity takes 7-10 days to develop, and an injured horse may develop tetanus before protection is achieved. Tetanus antitoxin alone provides protection in 2-3 hours but it only lasts for 3 weeks and tetanus may develop after this protection has waned. Therefore, simultaneous injection of 1500 units of Equivac TAT and 1mL of Equivac-T provides optimal immediate and long-term protection. These injections should be given on different sides of the neck. Another dose of Equivac-T four weeks later is required for long-lasting protection.

Call in & visit Debbie & check out their extensive range of clothing

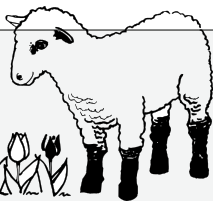

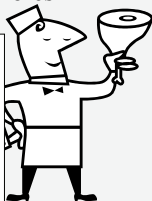

Vaccination is the only way to provide long term protection against tetanus. It should be remembered that the horse is the most susceptible animal to tetanus.
